Zuesday, August 25, 1870. The War News.

At the time of writing we have news from the seat of war up to the 23d The victorious advance of the Prussians on Paris has been checked: and the military star of France seems to be once more in the ascendant. It is but a week or so ago that the Prussians left the Saar, Rhenish Bavaria, and Baden. Into Frauce they rushed in overwhelming numbers. The French line between Nancy and Metz was broken. Battle after battle,day after day, on the Moselle and the Mense were the consequence. The Prossians seemed determined to kill of a quarter of million of men rather than anything should be allowed to stop them from camping under the walls of Paris, and if necessary make the Seine as bloody as the Moselle, the Meuse, and the Marne. From the frontier to Vitry le Français they lost 100,000 men. Our telegrams give gloomy accounts of the French; but the terrible havock that they have made among the Prussians indicate that they have preformed prodigies of valor. As a matter of course the French sufféred less than the Prussians, as the latter took the offensive and the former the defensive. The Prussian loss of 40,000 on the 18th has, however, checked their march towards Paris. The Prince Royal who had advanced as far as Vitry le Francais, within ninety miles of Paris, and twenty of Chalons has halted. The French base was suddenly changed. Instead for Stock around it. ier, -- Bazaine, the Emperor, and Mc-Mahon, have found a new base at right angels with the former, and para-lell with the line taken by the Prussians in their advance on Paris. Bazaine's manouver has been successful. The Prus- Groceries, Provisions, sian line has been threatened or cut-the Prince Royal being seperated from King William's army. The French now extend from Metz to Reims and Chalons, and thence to Paris. French generalship is now begining to be seen, and it is doubtful whether the Prusit is doubtful whether the Prussians will get to Paris as soon as ex

It is impossible to speculate with any great degree of accuracy, as to the immediate or ultimate results of French generalship; but it does seem that they are likely to be more successful in the future. Within the mark fortsight the result of the amount of more successful in the fature. Within the next fortnight the result of the campaign is likely to appear, and probably peace may be determined. The loss of the Pruscians on the 18th may afford grounds on which to enable foreign powers to propose terms of peace; and as the Pruscians have declared that they have no desire to annex French soil, there seems to be no reason why France should continue the war, except the presence of Pruscians on French soil. It is true tinne the war, except the presence of Pressians on French soil. It is true France declared war first, and has not acquired much military glory up to the present. It is true that something more may be asked by the French people before they would consent to peace; but it is difficult to imagine, with the public opinion of Europe declaring that the war was commenced without cause, that the Emperor would refuse peace. The integrity of Belgium is guaranteed by all the great powers, France included. The only territorial object to be attained by France would be Luxembourg, Rhenish France would be Luxembourg would be Luxembourg would be Luxembourg would be Luxembourg would be Rhenish France would Prussia, and the Palatinate. It does not seem to us, however, that the Emperor will insist on war to acquire them. An honorable peace, and the military pres-tige of France preserved, is likely to be the extreme limit of his demand. To go beyond will be a hazardous game.

Justices of the Peace to the Front

EDITOR STANDARD :- A few years ago Mr. EDITOR STANDARD:—A few years ago Mr. Seymour, the late Governor, surprised us all by publishing his batch of newly-fledged Justices of the Peace. Though it was at the time the cause of no little merriment, I fondly hoped that at the half-yearly periods for issuing liquor licenses a goodly number would be present on the Bench, and make use of their influence and votes on those occasions. Now, I have often heard of carpet-Captains and drawing-room Generals, but I never before witnessed a case of carpet Justices; for unfortunately the majority of these never before witnessed a case of carpet Justices; for unfortunately the majority of these gentlemen seem to avoid descending into the judicial arena, and entering the magisterial lists in the discharge of duties for which they were considered so eminently qualified. Besides, as many of them are resident in the country districts adjoining Victoria, their presence on the Bench on the occasions above mentioned would seem to be a positive edentioned would seem to be a positive advantage. I merely throw out these remarks in order, if possible, to induce these gentle-men to divest themselves of their bashfulness, and to express a hope that in future we shall have at these periodical seasons something like a full Bench.

Perhaps, however, it may be said that on the present physical bench in the Police Court, there is no room for more than about three sitting Justices; I believe there is some truth in this statement, and would therefore sug-gest that the present tribunal be made longer

In conclusion, I willingly add that I possess in no small degree the usual English reverence for Law and its Administrators, but I do not like to see a number of gentlemen dubbed "J. P." merely to add a tail to their names, or give them, in many cases, the coveted satisfaction of a certain ction of a certain precedence in LYNX. A Germam paper in New York declares that the Americans who do not endorse the extravagant proceedings of their war meetings are divided into these classes: "The ings are divided into these classes: "The old fogies, who still honour France as their ally in the Revolution; the shoddies, who knew nothing of Europe but Paris, and nothing of European institutions but French dressmakers and hairmakers and dancing-masters; the money men who are under the influence of Rothchild; the Fenians, who hold England to be the probable ally of Germany, and rejoice over France as the natural ally of Ireland; and the pious, who are affilicted by German infidelity.

Loan Society's Ordinance, 1869."

THIS SOCIETY is Empowered by its Rules, and amount and bearing Interest according to periods of Deposit varying from 6 per cent. to 8 per cent. per annum, repoyable on 30 days notice.

By Section 30, of the above Ordinance the Society is than three forths of the amount of Capital actually paid in on unadvanced Shares, and invested in Securities or in property by such Society; and the whole of the Property and Capital of the Society shall be liable for the amount so Borrowed, Received, or taken by any such Society."
